

FORMALITY GONE IN LOWER HOUSE

Members Throw Oranges and Transact Routine Business.

GAME BILL IS PASSED

VETO OF EMIGRATION CANYON MEASURE SUSTAINED.

Business in the house yesterday was transacted in a rather desultory fashion. The members met, passed on a few measures and then "sauntered," gathered again, "rambled," and then waited around for something to do. There is a large amount of routine at the closing of a session and the members waited around to take care of this at intervals as it came up.

Speaker Hull's gavel was missing when the house gathered in the afternoon. He called attention to the fact, and the house passed on.

"I move that the doors of the members be searched and that the man in whose desk the stolen property is found be fined a box of oranges," said Done. The motion was carried.

"Mr. Speaker, there is no need of looking further," said Anderson, lifting the gavel off his desk.

"I'm guilty," said the speaker's gavel, water pitcher and cuspidor. The oranges were ordered by telephone. When they arrived there was a bombardment in every direction. The members and officials dodged, reached and grabbed as the yellow globes flew about, their paper wrappers floating through the air. A little later orange peels landed on scalps, noses and eyes promiscuously.

Only the dexterity of the speaker in catching one big orange that was coming swiftly toward him saved him from being hit in the face. Everybody was happy.

Game Law Passed.

Senate bill No. 72, by Barber, revising the fish and game law, fixing a gun license, limiting the number of deer that may be killed in one season to two bucks with horns, and making the season last during September and October, was passed with some amendments. The requirement for fish screens at the entrance to irrigation ditches was cut out. The vote was 23 to 14. The open season for ducks is extended to allow shooting between Feb. 15 and March 15.

The "cadaver bill" is as dead as its name implies. The house killed "senate bill No. 155, by Love, by request," as it is technically known, without discussion, the moment it showed its head. The house stood by the governor in a veto of Smith's house bill No. 56, forcing the opening of Emigration Canyon to stock. Governor Wells held the act to be special legislation and unconstitutional, especially as it took away some of the powers granted Salt Lake City by its charter.

The vote at first stood 19 to 15 in favor of sustaining the veto. Before the result was announced attention was called to the fact that the bill also carried a provision for the regulation of artesian wells. This caused the changing of a number of votes, but not the necessary thirty to pass the bill over the veto. The vote on passage of the bill was as follows:

Ayes—Austin, Cahoon, Child, Chipman, Colton, Hall, Hamlin, Haslam, Hawley, Lee, Luther, McKinnon, McRae, Merrill, Morris, Redd, Richards, Roberts, Smith, Stone, Tietjen, Watts, Wilson, Hull—27.

Nays—Condon, Done, McFarland, Robison, Stewart, Stoker—8.

Tax Commission Killed.

Senate bill No. 202, by Johnson—Creating a tax commission, was killed. Senate bill No. 201, by the ways and means committee, taxing coke, was killed twice. After the first execution, Cahoon had it called back. The first action was rescinded. The bill was again voted upon, with the following result:

Ayes—Austin, Cahoon, Child, Colton, Haslam, Hawley, J. E. Johnson, J. H. Johnson, Merrill, Molyneux, Morris, Redd, Robison, Smith, Stone, Wilson—14.

Nays—Austin, Barrett, Brink, Chipman, Done, Fishburn, Lee, Luther, Nash, Peterson, Richards, Stewart, Stoker, Watts, Hull—15.

Absent and not voting—Anderson, Condon, Coulter, Evans, Hall, Hamlin, McFarland, McKinnon, McRae, Metcalf, Roberts, Spry, Tietjen, White—14.

Dr. Condon received unanimous consent to introduce a resolution thanking the members of the press for their impartiality and expressing the hope that the ties formed during the session would grow stronger and be cemented with passing years.

The McRae anti-fume bill was laid away yesterday. The house accepted the senate's verdict, and let the bill die. Senator Lewis' dog tax bill was also interred.

Bills Passed.

The following were passed: Senate bill No. 190, by Barnes—Providing for 5-mill state tax levy. Senate bill No. 89, by Bennion—Relating to powers of corporations. House bill No. 188, by J. E. Johnson—Compelling the appointment of a bee commission upon the petition of five instead of a majority of the beekeepers in a county, and providing for quarantine against foul brood.

Senate bill No. 171, by Love—Requiring a majority frontage to protest against sidewalk improvements in counties. The act giving custody of minor children to the mother in case of separation of husband and wife was amended by unanimous consent at the request of the governor. A proviso was added giving the court authority to designate another person to have the custody if the mother is proved an unfit person.

Dr. Condon asked leave to reintroduce his poultry commission bill, as he said the senate would pass it. The privilege was denied.

Anderson moved that the Rocky Mountain Bell Telephone company be thanked for the courtesies it had extended. Thanks were extended at the beginning of the session, but the house refused to table the present motion, and passed it. Then Stewart persuaded the members to rescind their action.

Morris and Austin tried to get the action declining to pay the expenses of the state irrigation congress reconsidered. They failed.

Redd Causes Anxiety.

This was the all-absorbing question yesterday afternoon. "The handsome man from San Juan" was appointed the previous evening to escort the committee clerks home. Anderson was seen floating out about the same time. He came back safely, but Redd failed to appear. The suspicion instantly grew that under the cover of night some tragedy had occurred, involving the rivals.

Anderson preserved a suspicious silence.

J. E. Johnson took the matter up and offered a resolution calling for a report from the committee clerks. The vote was close, but the motion was declared lost.

A few minutes later Redd appeared, safe and smiling, and the minds of the members were relieved.

Cigarette Bill Wins.

The anti-cigarette bill has at last passed safely through every ordeal except that of the executive office. The house yesterday concurred in the senate amendment, striking out all provision excusing the offender provided he informs on the dealer selling the tobacco. The vote on final passage of the bill was as follows:

Ayes—Austin, Anderson, Barrett, Cahoon, Chipman, Colton, Condon, Coulter, Done, Hall, Hamlin, Haslam, J. E. Johnson, McKinnon, McRae, Merrill, Morris, Redd, Richards, Roberts, Robison, Smith, Stewart, Stoker, Tietjen, White, Hull—28.

Nays—Austin, Brink, Child, Evans, Hawley, J. H. Johnson, Lee, Luther, Metcalf, Molyneux, Stone, Watts—12.

Absent and not voting—Fishburn, Nash, Spry, Wilson—4.

Barber Bill Is Passed Finally.

The Haslam barber bill has now passed both houses of the legislature and is in the hands of the governor. The house concurred in the senate amendments.

Axon Visits House.

Chaplain John T. Axon, once of the lower house, but now with the Eighteenth infantry, was a visitor among the representatives yesterday.

CONFIDENCE IN HULL.

House Passes a Resolution Complimentary to the Speaker.

Without discussion, the house yesterday passed a resolution expressing confidence in Speaker Hull. This was another sequel to the attack made on him the previous day by President Allison of the senate.

The resolution was introduced by White. There was one vote against it—what, it is not clear, as all was viva voce. The resolution was as follows:

"Whereas, It has been charged and declared by the senate of the legislature of the state of Utah that the speaker of this house has deliberately, maliciously, falsely and with ulterior and improper motives, condemned the management of certain state institutions and slandered certain parties in control thereof, and that Mr. Spry, an honored member of this house, was unfair in the examination of said institution; therefore, be it

"Resolved, That this house hereby affirms its entire confidence in the integrity of purpose and motive of the said speaker and Mr. Spry in relation to said matters, and declare our belief that condemnation of them is unjust and unfair."

MORTGAGED HIS FURNITURE

Additional alleged misdeeds of Charles Scott, the former clergyman, of the Short Line who disappeared from the city several days ago, leaving his wife and child, came to light yesterday. A loan company has come forward with a mortgage on his furniture which they claim he took the pains to sell before leaving.

A representative of the company stated last night that while Mrs. Scott was out on a visit he mortgaged his furniture, worth about $300, for $100 cash. A few days ago, when the notice of the young man's disappearance was published, the loan agent went to Scott's house to look after the furniture, and found that it had been disposed of. Where it was sold or to whom, the agent has been unable to learn.

"If he left the furniture," said the agent, "his wife would not now be in such straitened circumstances. It was worth about three times what he mortgaged it for."

LEGISLATURE MEETS TODAY

Solons Still in Session For Last Thursday.

AWAIT GOVERNOR'S VETO

ON ITEMS IN BIG APPROPRIATION BILL.

Last Thursday has been stretched over into today by the state legislature. Both houses are still in continuous session, and their members will gather at 10 a. m. today with the hope of being able to wind up the business before dinner. It will not be Sunday work for the legislators, because the big clocks of both senate and house bear mute witness to the fact that it is not midnight Thursday night yet, and besides, all the legislative records indicate that it is still Thursday.

"Possibly veto of part of the big appropriation bill," Governor Wells is what is being awaited. Something over $200,000 in excess of the state's income has been appropriated by the solons, and it is up to the chief executive to scratch a few items off the big budget. That the roads appropriations will be the first to suffer is the belief of leaders in both branches.

Both houses must remain in session until after the governor has had an opportunity of examining all the bills. Many of the measures passed had not been engrossed late last night, so he has them for the first time today, and will pass them before noon if it is a physical possibility.

Play Ball With Oranges.

The senate abandoned its dignity yesterday afternoon and took to throwing and dodging orange peelings. President Allison's gavel disappeared mysteriously, and it was found in Senator Bamberg's pocket. The rotund Salt Lake was hauled up before the bar for contempt, found guilty and fined the cost of senate refreshments.

Whereupon he sent for a dozen dozen of oranges. Hungry solons burst into the case at once upon its arrival and played ball with the yellow spheres. To the great consternation of a party of club women who had called to witness the legislative operations. Senator S. H. Love distinguished himself as an expert pitcher and catcher, while Senator Willis Johnson developed an unsuspected faculty of expert marksmanship with the orange. For over an hour the senators ate oranges and threw peels at each other until, tired of their sport, they "sauntered" until evening.

From time to time during the senate's session, house or senate bills came from the house for approval or signature. Little or nothing of public importance seemed to break the monotony of the day in the upper house.

Shaving and Dancing.

When the senate met in the morning the Haslam barber bill came up (H. B. 88). It had been killed half a dozen times by the senate, but to mollify the house the senators finally decided to let it go through. Senator J. A. Murdoch made a hard fight against the measure, but it passed by a vote of 13 to 4. Senator Murdoch said:

"If you start legislating for barbers, you can legislate where you want. There are many other practices which ought to be regulated.

"No young man or young woman should be allowed to dance with each other without a charge of 10 cents. I represent the wishes of barbers as a class; merely the personal notions of a few barbers."

"Our eating establishments need regulation. There is more danger from passing bad food into the stomach than there is from passing the razor over the face."

"The best barbers of the city do not need any such protection. They don't care whether other shops charge 5 or 10 cents. I charge 15. This bill does not represent the wishes of barbers as a class; merely the personal notions of a few barbers."

A CHANGE FOR THE BETTER

The Way Physicians Now Treat Catarrh.

Physicians who formerly depended upon inhalers, sprays and local washes or ointments now use Stuart's Catarrh Tablets because, as one of the most prominent stated, these tablets contain in pleasant, convenient form all of the really efficient and reliable catarrh remedies, such as red gum, blood root and Hydrastin.

They contain no cocaine or opiate (so common in local remedies) and they are given to little children with entire safety and benefit.

Dr. J. J. Reitinger says: "I suffered from catarrh in my head and throat every winter, and it would hang on clear into summer, with stoppage of the nose and irritation in the throat, affecting my voice so that I was continually clearing my throat before I could speak plainly; it finally extended to the stomach, causing catarrh of the stomach."

"I bought a 50-cent box of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at my druggist's, carried them in my pocket and used them regularly several times a day, and the way in which they cleared my head and throat and improved my hearing and general health I consider little short of remarkable. I had no catarrh last winter and spring, and I know I am entirely free from any catarrhal trouble whatever."

Mrs. Jerome Ellison of Wheeling writes: "I suffered from catarrh nearly my whole life, and last winter my two children also suffered from catarrh. I tried them in the house and much they were out of school a large part of the winter. My brother, who was cured of catarrhal deafness by using Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, urged me so much to try them that I sent to the drug store and bought a package, and I am truly thankful for what they have done for me and my children. I always keep a box of the tablets in the house and at the first appearance of a cold or sore throat one or two of the catarrh tablets nips it in the bud, and Catarrh is no longer a household affliction with us."

How Catarrhs are Attained. In each state where scholarships are given the president of the state university will act as the chairman of a committee of three, the other two to be selected by the president of the school, and the candidates for the scholarship will have to pass a rigid examination before this board of examiners. The one securing the highest grade and fulfilling the other requirements set forth in the will of the late Cecil Rhodes will be granted the scholarship. This plan was decided upon to prevent politics from entering into the matter in any possible way.

It was first the plan of Dr. Parkin to place the matter of appointments from each state in the hands of the governors of the respective states, but an interview with President Theodore Roosevelt caused him to change his mind. President Roosevelt is quoted as saying:

"Why, that will never do at all. Even my friend Governor —, if asked to make the appointment, would say: 'Now, how can I do this to best help myself in the next election?'"

As a consequence the other plan was decided upon as the most fair of any that could be suggested.

Oxford Requirements are Severe. The requirements for entrance into Oxford are of a very high order, and under the adopted system of appointments only the student with the very highest qualifications, mentally, morally and physically, will be enabled to take advantage of the generosity of the great South African empire builder.

President Kingsbury has the appointment of the two associates who will act with him on the examining board, but these will not be selected for some time yet.

"According to present arrangements," said President Kingsbury yesterday, "one student will be appointed next year and one the year following. This state is entitled to two scholarships, and after the second year there will be two students from here in the college each year. According to the terms of the will, the scholarships are perpetual and as fast as there is a vacancy from this state another appointment will be made."

Dr. Parkin left yesterday afternoon for Denver, where he will hold a consultation with the prominent educators of Colorado in regard to the appointments from that state. He has already held consultations with educators in a number of states and will hold another in New York before sailing for Europe. After completing his work there he will go to South Africa and look after the scholarships in that country.

After the order has been signed, the duty of drawing the names devolves upon County Clerk John James, County Attorney George Westervelt and County Treasurer Carved in the names of the men who will constitute the jury is not known.

County Attorney Westervelt said yesterday that the investigation of the grand jury will be one of the most thorough and far-reaching ever held in this jurisdiction. Every possible infraction of the law will be thoroughly looked into. No steps will be left untried to clear the moral and criminal aspect of the city and county.

UTAH HAS TWO SCHOLARSHIPS

Dr. G. R. Parkin Explains Rhodes' Educational Bequests.

SPENT YESTERDAY IN CITY

DR. J. T. KINGSBURY TO HAVE CHARGE OF APPOINTMENTS.

Dr. G. R. Parkin of Canada, who has been appointed by the trustees of the will of the late Cecil Rhodes to superintend the distribution of Oxford scholarships in the United States, Canada, Europe and South Africa, was in the city yesterday, and held a consultation with President J. T. Kingsbury of the state university in regard to the representatives from this state.

Dr. Parkin's stay here was very brief, but he arranged for the giving of one scholarship next year, and one the following year. "After that there will be two students from the state of Utah in Oxford each year."

Dr. Parkin came here directly from San Francisco. On last Monday he held a consultation with representatives of the Pacific states in Berkeley with reference to the distribution of the scholarships in those states. The same arrangements were made there that were made here. Prof. Byron Cummings of the Utah state university attended the meeting and looked after the interests of the local schools. Dr. Parkin stopped here to communicate the plan decided upon at that conference to President Kingsbury. The plan is this:

How Scholarships are Attained. In each state where scholarships are given the president of the state university will act as the chairman of a committee of three, the other two to be selected by the president of the school, and the candidates for the scholarship will have to pass a rigid examination before this board of examiners.
